

"Tour de Corse" with assistance - comfort

7 days, 6 nights

On this program you will discover the amazing scenery that this Mediterranean island has to offer. Just unbelievable landscapes await you along the roads switching between coast and mountains. You will meet proud local people who will want to impress on you their passion for their home, food and traditions.

The accommodation that we choose is all well located and offers the comfort you need; whether in hotels, guest houses and auberges (double rooms).

Surely is this a trip that you won't forget!!

YOUR PROGRAM

Day 1 - From Bastia into the Balagne

This first stage starts from Bastia and heads westwards up over the Col de Teghime. From here you have a great view over Bastia and the region to the south. The view also extends to the west and over to the magnificent bay of St-Florent. The road sweeps downhill from here, through Patrimonio, a region known for its vineyards (a quick stop to taste a few good wines is not a bad idea). You will then cross St-Florent and ride through the Corsican desert (le désert des Agriates), before reaching the small villages of the Balagne, on the northwest coast. Night stop in Calvi.

About 115km for 2000m+

Max height: 549m

Option more hard:

About 140km for 2450m+

Max height: 685m

Day 2 - From the Balagne to the bay of Porto

The itinerary follows the coastal road along crystal clear waters, and offers some stunning views. The major climb of the day is the Col de Palmarella. After the "Col de la Croix", through a few typical villages, you will reach Porto and its famous Genoese tower. If you want to, you can ride up to the "Calanques de Piana" (an extraordinary rock formation, UNESCO world heritage).

About 80km for 1300m+ (105km with "Calanques de Piana")
Max height: 408m

Option more hard (with "Calanques de Piana"):
About 170km for 3000m+
Max height: 1084m

Day 3 - Through the Spelunca gorges to the heart of Corsica

Leaving Porto and the coast, today's stage leads you through stunning gorges into the Aitone-forest and up to the highest road pass of the island, the Col de Vergio. Don't be surprised to see some pigs, cows, goats or other wildlife on your way. A long downhill awaits you (the twisty and narrow Scala Santa Regina is just pure pleasure!), before crossing Corte (where the island's university is located) and finally reaching the region of Venaco.

About 115km for 2980m+
Max height: 1477m

Day 4 - From the centre of the island to the bay of Propriano

The day starts with the Col de Vizzavona followed by a short fast downhill, before climbing again, up the beautiful Col de Scalella. Further on the route undulates through some tiny villages (some of them known for their prehistorical vestiges). Today's accommodation offers you a great view over the bay of Propriano, and after a long day on your bike you can enjoy a cold drink watching the sunset!

About 110km for 2300m+
Max height: 1178m

Option more hard:
About 145km for 2500m+
Max height: 1178m

Day 5 - From the Propriano bay to the Coscione plateau

Today you will cross the Alta Rocca region, with its old historical villages, olive trees and mills. From the village of Zonza, the fittest will take the climb up to the famous Col de Bavella. The views over the Bavella needles are just amazing! Then it continues to undulate until the Col de la Vaccia (1195m) and a gentle descent to our overnight stop.

About 95kms for 2400m+
Max height: 1190m

Option more hard with "Aiguilles de Bavella":
About 115km for 2800m+
Max height: 1205m

Day 6 - From the Coscione to the historical capital of Corsica

You have a few km to warm up before attacking the 1st climb of the 3 this stage has to offer; the Col de Verde. A beautiful road through the Verde-forest followed by the next uphill section, up the superb Col de Sorba. The views are just wonderful! But keep your eyes on the road during the long and twisty descent. The next pass is a bit easier and also offers unique views over the Corsican countryside. Down again on a superb and twisty road, before rolling the last few km into Corte, historical capital of the island.

About 80kms for 1750m+
Max height: 1314m

Option more hard:
About 100km for 2250m+
Max height: 1314m

Day 7 - The Castagniccia

Deep through the villages of the Castagniccia, today's stage leads you into this area known for its old chapels, natural water sources and centuries old chestnut trees. That's pure nature!! Keep your eyes peeled for the "Milan Royal" (a local bird of prey) flying gracefully through the sky. Soon you will reach the east coast again, and Bastia is not much further.

Distance 105km for 2150m+ to the airport (123km to the port)
Max height: 985m.
